

ARMAMENT LIMITATION IS ESSENTIAL TO ENGLAND.

Taxation Burden too Heavy, Says Manchester "Guardian" Writer; French Editors Give Views.

By H. W. NEVINSON.
Correspondent of the Manchester "Guardian."
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Limitation of armament is essential for England. England has become a poor country instead of being a very rich country. The people are suffering under a heavy burden of taxation for the maintenance of armament. It has reduced our old land-owning class to a much lower position. The old land-owning families, a very great many of them, have been compelled to sell their holdings. So old estates have been broken up and sold.

The whole country is changed as a result. Those who were land owners and who found themselves unable to stem the tide of taxation have sold to farmers who were tenants. Thus the farmers have a chance to buy the land they have been tilling and are acquiring the freehold. But a common difficulty is now that they have bought the land they have not the capital to develop it.

LOWER LIVING STANDARDS.
The professional and educated upper middle classes are suffering from the great taxation and the high cost of living. All of the people we used to call the gentry, that is, the educated, public school and university class, have had to reduce their standard of living very considerably. They have had to abandon what Masterlinck called "the treasures of the humble"—that is, such pleasures as art, travel and elegance afford. These are sacrificed to increased taxation and to the rise in the cost of living.

There is no doubt that the increased taxation is crippling industry. Commerce is suffering from taxation as well as from the distressed condition of Central Europe, one of our main markets. In consequence of the economic depression manual workers are thrown out of employment. My belief is that owing to the war with its inevitable aftermath of intolerable taxation and unendurable increases in the cost of life's necessities the social situation becomes extremely dangerous. The war was waste.

VICTIMS ALSO LOSERS.
It is in itself proof of Norman Angell's contention made some time before the great conflict began that even the victorious in war are endangered by their very success—that victory implies grave loss if not ruin to the victors as well as to the vanquished.

Hope of reparations from conquered peoples are worse than useless and tend toward the destruction of trade. Attempts to exact reparations defeat themselves because they are bound to impoverish the country from which payment is demanded and destroy its ability to pay. Talk of making Germany pay has been proved an entire fallacy. These are the internal reasons for the desire in England for the discussion of limitation of armament along the broad lines which the call to Washington suggests.

It is certainly true that increase of armament tends to maintain mutual hatred and fear between nations. Fear is I believe the chief cause for international hatred. Fear and hatred have increased in Europe since the first world war. In France there is a fear of the possible revival of Germany. That fear is stronger than it was before the war, and the French seem to be dominated by the thought of Germany's rehabilitation and of consequent vengeance to be wreaked upon her late enemies.

ISSUES IN PACIFIC.
Turning from England and Europe there are many large and threatening issues to be considered in the Pacific. No doubt these will be the main issues to be dealt with by the conference at Washington. I do not wish to discuss the problems of the conference except from an English point of view. I do feel that the aspect about which England is anxious most of all is to maintain close and friendly relations with the United States. That is the basis of our foreign policy. Also it is a basic policy of

OHIO LOSES VOLCANO IN ROSS COUNTY

Smoking Mountain, Which Long Prowled Mystery, Subsides at Last.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—Ohio's "Mount Vesuvius" is dead. The region that superstitious and timid ones once thought might turn out to be a modern Pompeii is now nothing but peaceful pasture land, swept and garnished by keen November winds. For Popple Mountain, in the southwestern corner of Ross county, that used to smoke by days and glow by night, has shed its great another one of Ohio's many hills. Copperra Mountain smoked and glowed intermittently for more than eleven years.

For periods of perhaps a year, maybe two years, there would be no sign of smoke or flame. ## INDECENT FILMS BRING REACTION.

In the damage cases (all for assault) rather favored the moralists, for a professor of from Munich, charged with having beaten up some person who favored the play, was acquitted on the ground that his performance was, in truth, of a character not properly to be tolerated. "The Paragon Comedy" has been withdrawn (or thrown out, as you choose to put it), and the moralists rejoice.

LITLED ON THE CLERGY.
This is not the only play, however, in which the clergy has been linked with immorality. The same Lucie Hollich whom I have mentioned has been concerned in another of these "The Privilege," not a playlet, but a full-length drama. In this the ministerial profession is degraded very fully, and in many lines, held up to contempt as well as exhibited as immoral. Its hypocrisy is charged and emphasized. The dialogue in this play is extraordinary. It is more than frank. It is not as stilted as that of "Das Reigen," but it is coarse enough to be intolerable to ears other than German.

This episode has led to the declaration by several members of the Reichstag that they propose to work for the restoration of the censorship for the speaking theater as well as for the films.

Herr Reich, lecturer of Bonn University, has come out with a statement to the effect that unless Germany cleans up in the matter of morality the republic and the German people inevitably must go completely under.

She must at once turn her attention, he insists, to "sittenkultur," which means the cultivation of propriety.

Herr Reich and most of those who work with him along these lines for betterment are, politically, members of the Progressive party. Their opponents are the group which contains the old-time conservatives, Junkers and Monarchists. It is curious that they should be thundering for freedom, which amounts to license at a time when the Socialists and such so-called liberals are demanding some sort of a curb upon public indecencies.

They make the extraordinary claim that art was given far more freedom under William the Once than it is offered now by the reformers who merely wish to keep such things as the naked dancers out of the films and such things as the too licentious parson and his unspeakable cook off the speaking stage. The threat against free art is actually known as the radical socialist threat. The world seems topsy-turvy.

CAN'T SELL FILMS.

Among the strangest opponents of indecent pictures are the stockholders in the great German motion-picture producing companies. They find that they cannot market filthy films abroad in any country in which the exchange is good and which actually has money—notably the United States of America, Scandinavia, South America and England.

The greatest of all German producing companies, the Universum, says that the United States wants German films because her cinema is solem, but that she will not tolerate the unclothed female figure on the screen. America makes payments in real money—already has paid much of it for German films—and therefore, as a matter of pure business, Germany should stop production of indecencies.

FARMERS, STOCKMEN SECURE BIG LOANS.
BORROW OVER $25,000,000 FROM WAR FINANCE CORPORATION IN FEW MONTHS.
(BY A. P. KERRY WIRE.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—More than $25,000,000 in credit has been extended farmers and stockmen during the two and one-half months since Congress authorized the War Finance Corporation to make advances for agricultural and livestock purposes according to figures announced tonight.

Reports of the corporation's activities since August 24 showed a total credit in excess of $22,000,000, with about thirty-two financial institutions in nineteen States making loans to farmers and stock raisers.

GERMANY PLANS TO KEEP ARMY.

French Minister of War Shows Conditions.

Teutons Will Train Men Even Without Arms.

Nothing in Treaty to Prevent Men Keeping Fit.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PARIS, Nov. 5.—As evidence of Germany's warlike spirit, Andre Lefevre, former Minister of War, prints a remarkable document from the pen of Gen. Von Seeck, chief of the Reichswehr and formerly Mackensen's right-hand man on the Russian front.

The publication has thrown a bombshell into the camp of those Frenchmen who demand the complete holocaust of Germany. Although M. Lefevre says it is true that 4000 pieces of heavy artillery, 1000 ordinary guns, 14,000 machine guns, 11,000 trench mortars, 4,500,000 rifles, and 12,000,000 shells have been destroyed, his story indicates that Gen. Von Seeck apparently plans to keep a giant army in training, although minus arms.

Gen. Von Seeck's order as a member of the War cabinet reads: "Regulations governing the conduct and fighting of all arms of the Reichswehr are communicated herewith. In regard to effective and armament equipment the regulations are based on the existence of the modern army of a great military power, not on the army of 100,000 allowed Germany under the treaty. Only by bearing vividly in mind the means and methods of fighting taken from us shall we be able to sustain ourselves against an enemy modernized equipment."

The absence of arms will make for greater mobility, better instruction and will lead to make better use of our ground. Troops must above all learn to conceal themselves by camouflage from enemy airplanes. In maneuvers one side will frequently be put into the field without modern appliances of warfare, whereas the opposing force will be supposed to possess them.

"Decisive importance will be attached to putting all arms into action simultaneously, especially the infantry-artillery combination. These regulations will give commanding officers and troops an opportunity to gain uniform instructions, bearing in mind the lessons of the war."

ARMY OF MILLIONS.
M. Lefevre points out that this order refers not to the military remnant allowed Germany by the treaty, but to each of the 7,000,000 men registered in the German military service. However, it is asserted that there is nothing in the treaty capable of being so interpreted as to prevent the Reich from playing at soldier if it wishes.

In another ordinance with the same title, the rebuilding of twelve villages of the Somme district, near Amiens, has been agreed to in principle. These were shattered when Hindenburg broke through the British line in 1918. German workmen and German materials under the direction of German engineers will be employed.

This is the first scheme for direct reconstruction of war-devastated areas by Germans. It will be regarded as an experiment which, if successful, will be extended to other parts of the front. It is not expected that Germany will be able to provide sufficient labor for the whole work. Moreover many areas oppose the importation of German labor.

In the first area of thirty kilometers radius, about 2500 Germans will be at work for a year. The value of the reconstruction work will be credited to Germany on the reparations account, and there will be no profit for contractors. While giving full play to the Germans in the reparations account, and there will be no profit for contractors. The stage involved in the accident

According to eyewitnesses Mr. Sigler attempted to pass another automobile and swung into the path of the rapidly approaching stage. The impact sent the small pleasure car into a ditch and threw the stage against a pepper tree at the opposite side of the road.

Mr. Sigler was picked up by passing motorists and taken to El Monte but died before reaching the city. His body was taken to the Schenck undertaking establishment, Mrs. Sigler and her two daughters were treated at the Pomona Valley Hospital and sent to their home, 2034 North Blyth street, Santa Ana.

FOOTBALL and LATE SPORTING NEWS

ARMY IS AFTER SWEET REVENGE

Will Meet Navy Gridders on Armistice Day.

Promises to Change Tune of Last Year's Song.

Struggle at Tournament Park Should be Heated.

BY "CHUCK" WEST.

Next Friday will be Armistice Day for everybody in the United States but the Army and Navy. On that day a football feud, still smoldering from last season, will be renewed at Tournament Park between the famous Pacific Fleet team and the Army, and it's a safe bet that the soldiers will stop at nothing short of wholesale murder to wipe out the memory of the terrible walling the sea dogs handed them last November.

THEY LOOK GOOD.

"Way last summer, before the pigskin pastime had forced its way into the limelight, the Army began planning for next Friday's game. Football players of considerable renown were collected at Camp Lewis, and Col. William H. Jordan was selected as head coach. Work was started with a vengeance, with the result that the Ninth Army Corps has developed a team that is considered by many superior to the West's aggregation. The soldiers have played five hard games this season, winning four of them, and will roll into town this morning in battle preparations for trouncing the Navy next Friday.

Practically every man on the Army eleven is an officer, and all have had plenty of experience on the gridiron. Two all-American players are included in the list, being Capt. H. N. Gilbert, who starred on Penn State's squad in 1926, and Capt. Jack Butler, a former Brown athlete. Coach Jordan has picked this pair of demons to play the ends in an effort to nip in the bud the Fleet's far-famed end run. Big Bill Ingram, the Navy's ace, will undoubtedly have quite a little trouble in sidestepping the Army's line this time.

A HARD HITTER.

Pulaski Berrins, captain of the smaller squad, played seven years of professional football in the East and is without a doubt one of the hardest hitting backs the Army has pulled on a headguard. In addition to his ability to buck the line, Berrins' run, perfect interference for the Army backfield, the marauders and Craig. Berrins may be doing the signal calling for the team.

Line of the Army side averages 180 pounds from end to end, and is believed by the soldiers' supporters to be possibly the strongest in the Pacific Northwest.

Little Joe Rogers, a 260-pound baby, is doing the honors at center, while Campbell and Vogel perform in the guard positions. Andy Smith, head coach of the Army team of last season and an all-American from Stanford, may play one of the tackles while Bill is the best man for the other one. Gilbert and Butler are the Army's ends.

SOME COLLECTION.

All of which indicates that the all-Western, played seven years of professional football in the East and is without a doubt one of the hardest hitting backs the Army has pulled on a headguard. In addition to his ability to buck the line, Berrins' run, perfect interference for the Army backfield, the marauders and Craig. Berrins may be doing the signal calling for the team.

Tickets for the big game are to be on sale tomorrow at the Los Angeles Coliseum, and at the American Legion headquarters in Pasadena. The reserved seats are being distributed for consideration of $1.50 and $1.00, while general admission placeboards are going at one each.

Trojans Are Praised by Mayor Cryer.

"The University of Southern California has shown the best brand of college spirit I have ever witnessed. It was a great game, and the Southern California men acquitted themselves like Trojans." This was the declaration of Mayor George E. Cryer on his return from Berkeley yesterday. The Mayor made the trip with the U.S.C. roster on the S.F. train, which returned to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon.

In spite of the defeat of the Trojan variety, the U.S.C. fans on the Yale were in good spirits, and all are far from disappointed with the showing their team made against California yesterday.

The Trojan gridiron left Berkeley last night, and will reach Los Angeles this morning. A large delegation of the college student body will be on hand to greet the players.

The U.S.C. Alumni Association will banquet the entire thirty-two men of the squad at the Ambassador Hotel Saturday night. Bert Smith, who is secretary of the organization, expects a number of graduates to attend.

DIRECTORS TO GATHER HERE.

Directors of the Pacific Coast League will convene here at the Van Nuys Hotel in their annual meeting tomorrow.

There is but little business to be transacted, according to Secretary Putnam of the San Francisco club, who is already here, aside from the appointment of a schedule committee.

There will be the usual discussion regarding the advisability of dropping Salt Lake and substituting either San Diego or Fresno, and if there is any excitement it probably will center around this proposition.

Plunging Up to the Line for the Trojans' Lone Score Against California.

Captain Charley Dean of U.S.C. Plunging Through a Jagged Hole in the Bear Defense and Falling on California's Four-Yard Line.

While the University of Southern California football team received an emphatic and enthusiastic beating at the hands of the California Bears Saturday, there is one consolation—the Trojans didn't get whitewashed. Here is Capt. Charley Dean being tackled by California player and falling with the ball a scant four yards from the Bear goal. The photograph was rushed by motor car to The Times from San Francisco by Owen R. Bird of the W. F. Herbert Co.

BEARS MAY GO IT ALONE.

Rumblings Heard That California is Angling With Yale For New Year's Day Game Up North.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 6.—When Andy Smith was in Portland for the Washington State game, he admitted that California probably will decline an invitation to play at Pasadena on New Year's Day, provided, of course, that such an invitation is received. Smith still wants an intercollegiate struggle, if the Bears win the Coast championship, but his idea is to play it in the new stadium at Palo Alto.

A little known fact is that California already has negotiations under way with Yale for a post-season clash. This, too, was admitted by Smith, who said that the plan is to play it in the new stadium. Stanford has been approached by the matter and favors having the contest staged at Palo Alto. It is believed by the Bear coach that there is a good chance the New Haven team will come West, particularly in view of Harvard's playmate two years ago. If Yale doesn't come, it is likely some other big-caliber team from beyond the Mississippi will be invited.

Of course the sentiment of students or faculty at Berkeley may favor the Pasadena classic and that Smith's plan will fall by the wayside, but if Southern California is interested in retaining the annual game, there is an opportunity for some missionary work. Andy Smith himself is definite in his position, in his own words, he is "off of Pasadena." Oregon and Washington teams would hate to see the Pasadena game abandoned. The University of Washington, which has played the game since 1907, is particularly interested in retaining the annual game, there is an opportunity for some missionary work. Andy Smith himself is definite in his position, in his own words, he is "off of Pasadena."

GRID SITUATION BALLED UP.

Pacific Coast Conference in a Muddle as a Result of Two Tie Games Last Saturday.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

PORTLAND, Nov. 6.—The football situation in the Pacific Northwest is somewhat scrambled by the tie games played at Seattle and Pullman yesterday. Both were upsets of the hope and add doubt as to the probable outcome of the Northwest conference race, although Stanford's unexpectedly poor showing against Washington makes it more evident that the University of California is again the supreme football team of the Coast.

DIDN'T FIGURE. As the Oregon Aggies had beaten Washington 34 to 6 and Stanford had defeated the Aggies, no one could figure where the Sun Dodgers had a chance against the Cardinals. The game, however, was even up in playing, as well as scoring. In the first half Washington had all the better of it, excelling in both offensive and defensive fling line appeared stronger and harrier better, while the whole team had a punch that the Palo Alto team lacked. In the second half after Wilson had gone to his old

BRITISH FENCERS SAIL.

BY CARL—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The British fencing team which will meet America's best swordsmen sailed today on the Baltic under the leadership of Col. R. B. Campbell, D.S.O., the captain of the team. Col. Campbell is the chief instructor of physical training of the British army. The team will travel second class. Col. Campbell explained this by saying:

WARMAN'S HIGH MAN IN SHOOT.

Plunks Off Fifty Pigeons in Exactly That Number of Shots.

RECEIVED DISPATCH.

R. W. Warman was the big noise at the Los Angeles Gun Club yesterday when he broke fifty targets straight from eighteen yards for the Mrs. J. M. Greenfield trophy No. 1. R. W. Warman, a former U.S.C. player, was the runner-up with 47-35 each.

For the second Greenfield trophy, Lou Reed from twenty yards scored out their sterling shot from Phoenix, Ariz. B. A. Gillespie, with a score of 49 to 48 out of a possible 50.

The winners of the various trophies were R. W. Warman, Lou Reed, C. W. Tabler, R. L. Kost and C. W. Tabler were the runners-up with 47-35 each.

REDLANDS MAY STILL RUN RELAY.

Crack Members of Old Team Good, but There's Yet Good Material on Deck.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

REDLANDS, Nov. 6.—Lloyd Fountain, the financial genius of the University of Redlands this year, grand poohbah of athletics, has just received an invitation to the Pennsylvania relay carnival which is to be held Friday, April 23, and Saturday, April 24, 1932. Fountain has twice been a participant in a University of Redlands relay team at Franklins Field and he says that Redlands might be enticed again at that.

When Bill Yount and Colin Kilby were graduated from the University last year every one said, "Hard to run, there goes the Redlands relay team." That was true to a certain extent and yet it is not as bad as it might be.

For instance, there are two members of last year's team on deck—Lloyd Yount and Kenneth Knights. There then is Bob Allen, who runs a quarter under 54. And the Bulldogs need but one more man to put out a speedy relay team. Cram, from San Bernardino, has been known to run it in 52, and it may be that he can be trimmed down to make the fourth member of the team.

TROJAN ELEVEN GAVE BEARS HARD FIGHT, SAYS SMITH.

California Mentor Rates U.S.C. Machine as Best Team His Charges Have Opposed in Two Years.

BY PAUL LOWMY.

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—U.S.C. offensively and defensively is the best team California has met in two years. That's what Andy Smith, coach of the champion California eleven, says of the Trojan boys who lost to his Bears 38 to 7 on California Field yesterday afternoon. Andy was sincere when he said it, and he didn't except Ohio State, which bowed to the skill of the Bears 28 to 0 in the last New Year's Day struggle at Pasadena.

The figures bear out the lanky tutor's statement, and Southern Californians who saw the game know that U.S.C. exhibited from 50 to 75 per cent greater strength than she has in any contest in the south this year.

The plays and formations that Henderson has never used in home contests were worked on the Bears for big gains. U.S.C. made eleven first downs and gained 147 yards from scrimmage. California's fifteen first downs and 123 yards from scrimmage.

The Bears' superiority to the matter of forward passing enabled them to enquire U.S.C. as they did Ohio State last January 1. U.S.C. completed nearly as many passes—five out of twelve, to be exact, to California's seven out of fourteen—but

SUPERIORITY OF MIDDLE WEST ELEVEN OVER EASTERN TEAMS IS DEMONSTRATED SATURDAY.

BY WALTER ECKHART.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Following Saturday's football game, featured by victories of Notre Dame and Nebraska over the Army and Pittsburgh, two of the strongest eleven in the East, superiority of the Middle West gridiron game over the East was demonstrated for the first time in history.

Never before in the annals of the popular college game have three eleven from the Middle West defeated a similar number of the East when each was representative of its respective section. The victories were clean cut and decisive, and plainly showed coaching methods in the Middle West are superior to those along the Atlantic seaboard.

Eastern football was given its first jolt when Chicago defeated Princeton on the Tiger gridiron, 3 to 0. The Maroons had all the best of the Princeton-Harvard game.

PROVES IT. To make the superiority of Middle West football more pronounced, Ohio State won from Chicago, 1 to 0, while Princeton took Harvard into camp, 10 to 5. The Buckeye victory over the Maroons, after one of the greatest games since the coming of the forward pass back in 1904, was won after an uphill battle in which strategy was used in the final period for the score which won the contest.

While Ohio was winning from Chicago, Notre Dame, by use of its shocking offense, which is composed of the best plays of the old and new game, won from the Army, 28 to 0. Early in the season the Cadets held Yale to a 14-to-7 score after a bitterly-fought struggle. The Hoosiers were masters of the situation at all

Tigers Split Double Bill With Friars.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Mission and Vernon broke even today. Vernon won, 1 to 6. Ball beating Tony Faith in the morning and Mission won, 3 to 1, in the afternoon. Sherry and Hannah made home runs.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Elizabeth Jordan's Column.

MENTAL TORTURE OF CHILDREN.

Every few days we pick up a newspaper and read in it some horrible instance of the torture of a little child, either by its parents or by some other in whose charge it has been left. It is pleasant to add that almost without exception the judges before whom these offenders are brought give the latter the most severe punishment the law allows—which is easily as it should be.

THOSE OTHER OFFENDERS.

The offenders who cannot easily be reached by the law, however, are those who would not dream of injuring a child physically, but who mentally torture their children by promising them horrible punishments for predicting dreadful fates for them or by working on their little emotions in other ways.

"Very well, then," a charming-looking woman living in a small town recently said to her equally charming boy of 1 and girl of 5 years, "since you are so naughty, mother is going to leave you. I cannot live with such a bad little girl and boy, so I'm going to pack up all my clothes and go away—and you will never, never see me any more."

THAT HOLE IN THE GROUND.

At this and prospect both children burst into resounding howls, so long continued and violent that they frightened the foolish mother. It finally developed that they thought she was to be put in a hole in the ground, like Grandmother's neighbor, who was buried in the back yard. The mother, now realizing what mischief she had done, was able to soothe the boy, but the little girl's condition became so serious that the doctor was sent for. She could not stop crying and was rapidly growing exhausted. On the doctor's arrival he immediately asked the cause of the outbreak, and when he learned it, nodded.

"I suppose you have been in the habit of frightening your children in this way," he asked grimly, when at last the child had been calmed. The mother wearily confessed that she had occasionally done so, but would never do it again.

THE UNFIT MOTHERS.

"That explains the nervousness of those two children," the doctor said. "I've been watching them and wondering what was the matter. All I can say, Mrs. Blank, is that you are not fit to have children." "Oh, you're not the only one," he went on, disregarding her wall of protest. "I have a dozen cases like this, where the children of supposedly intelligent parents have been scared almost into convulsions by the idiotic tales of their parents or others in the family. One mother told her boy of 4 that she was afraid that he would never go to heaven. He went around making inquiries about the other place, and the stuff dropped out of him by would-be humorists almost sent him off his head. It will take him years to get over that scare—and it may keep some psychosomatic busy even in the child's manhood."

GUARD THE CHILD.

"There, there," he said, comfortingly, "you haven't done any lasting harm as yet, and now you're cured. But every time I come up against one of these cases I feel it my duty to tell the mother that she might as well lead the child up to a red-hot stove and put his hands on it as to scare him stiff mentally. She must not only spare him mental that is only exceeded by his ignorance of fact. Personally, I do not care a tinker's malediction where Balzac ever made the statement Mr. Chaixy attributes him with or not. But it is his own fault when he is ignorant in behalf of such is the name of the religion of Christ, for me to the belief that they are deliberately leading men of achievement in an effort to besmirch the patient toll of a lifetime. Mr. Chaixy's view of "The Great God" must, indeed, flatter the Almighty according to Mr. Chaixy's very literal deity who condescended to knock off work on the universe (a space so vast that it cannot be conceived by human mind, and filled with thousands of millions of constellations) and devote a full week's time to the fashioning of our own insignificant world and the poor creatures in it.

Mr. Chaixy has studied the writings of Charles Darwin—which I doubt—I challenge him to produce from that eminent scientist's works anything that could possibly be construed as a slur at the Almighty. And I have found in some of Darwin's works any statement that a man is descended from the Simian race. I make bold to venture that Mr. Darwin never said down any such theory. Now, Mr. Chaixy, in the parlance of the day, "Try and find it."

Truly, Mr. Editor, the God of Darwin's conception is a far nobler, more majestic, and more majestic than the pecked edition Mr. John Z. Chaixy must now have. He has enabled the human race to attain its present high state of development and stubbornly clings to a literal, man-written account of the evolution of the world.

Science has advanced 5000 years in 5000 years, but the hell-and-damnation religion of Mr. J. Z. Chaixy and his ilk hasn't progressed five minutes since it was first formulated. Which may or may not explain why science regards the Chaixy-ites with profound distrust.

WALTER HENRY.

Explains Position. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Some time ago I wrote an article to the Times suggesting that it would be advisable for the Pasadena committee to select Yale in preference to the University of Iowa.

In my article I mentioned the Middle West and it seemed some of the people from that section of the United States took exception to my remarks.

Nothing was further from my mind when I wrote the article. In fact, no one has a higher opinion of that part of the country than I have. As one of its inhabitants said in the paper:

"Iowa is the market basket of the United States and if we don't feed the rest of the East, it would starve," and that's just what I think.

The Middle West is the land of the farmer, the lumberman, and the small town man, good, honest people, with small learning and culture.

Not an educated class, but one that displays traits and turbulent Darwinism to a Darwinian adherent. A careful perusal of historical data would seem to refute this statement.

Balzac died in 1850, whereas the one upon which Balzac probably would have expressed an opinion was not published until 1871. Thus, you see, Balzac is credited with uttering the said theory that never came publicly into being until, respectively, nine and twenty-one years after his death. Darwinism, so-called—was not established until the latter sixties and possibly later.

Mr. Chaixy attacks matters scientific with a villainousness of phrase.

Like the Picture. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It may be that those of your staff whose duty is to go to the new movie showings get stale; thereby failing to do justice to some new offering. I take the liberty of thinking that Mr. Schallert, in reviewing "The Shell," had a plethora of movies to view recently. His opinion of this desert showing is so radically different from my own that I hope you will permit me herewith to give hearty praise of what, although its theme is rather improbable (however, that is no fault of the scenario writer, as it is taken from a popular novel) is a film far above the stuff we have recently had thrust upon us.

Although this film is of the eternal sex interest, it has the merit of being restrained, both in its photography and in its depiction. Seldom have I seen better emotional work than the English-Arab, the Shell, and as for his friend, the French physician-author, played by a Frenchman, M. Adolphe Menjou, one would go far to study more restrained and fine work. Agnes Ayres, also, does not overact—for which the heavens be praised.

I have no interest in film, actors, or box office; but, after all the well-deserved knowledge recently given most everything on the silver sheet, let's be glad to say a good word for one as good.

ALICE HARRIMAN.

Mac Wants the News. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] James Barton writes in a recent issue of The Times, objecting to the press devoting so much space to the Obochuk case and others of such ilk. Mr. Barton is evidently, from the tone of his letter a choleric old grouch.

If the people don't want to read of such "slush" as he terms it, why do they buy the papers? One does not have to be a "dapper" or trigger-brained maulin woman to be interested in such news.

It is all very well to carry stories of disarmament and other notes of "good in the world," but Mr. Barton should remember that the impulse dominates the world and it is only human nature for men and women to be interested in the troubles of others and especially between opposite sexes.

You are getting on your very excellent paper for the public and it is the public upon whom you depend. As long as the public wants such news give it to them and pay no attention to harping of such as James Barton, who must have originally hailed from Iowa.

F. L. MCGUIRE.

Try Birth Control. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mrs. Allen's remedy for war is more Christianity; if this is intended for a joke, well, as a joke it is not so bad.

Germany, the most Christian nation, did not permit Christianity to be a deterrent. The war hierarchy of Germany justified their atrocious questions from the Christian code of morals, the Bible. Christianity has been a failure because it deals only with theories that cannot be demonstrated.

A fertile acre will support thirty-seven people in comfort, before the war each fertile acre in Germany supported fifty-seven people. Germany was overcrowded and war became inevitable.

With an every-increasing birth rate no League of Nations nor Disarmament Conference will prevent war, for hungry men will fight for land—the source of all food.

Birth control is the only cure for war and poverty—there is no other remedy. Christianity has proven a failure. Why not try birth control? ELIZABETH QUIGLEY.

Child Gambling. LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why are our children permitted to gamble while mothers and authorities sit idly by? All over town these days is seen the big green box containing packages on which children are taking a "chance" at 10 cents each. They may get one chocolate drop, or perhaps a collar button worth a penny, for the dime put up for the "chance draw." Occasionally—but seldom—a child draws a one or two-pound box of candy, and it is the hopes of drawing this big prize that keeps the children gambling with their dime. We have laws forbidding the sale of dice for cigars, etc. by men, who probably would not be hurt very much by this form of gambling. But with the candy box as a chance game for children, they are surely learning gambling ways, which should be as unlawful for them in this way, as the throwing of dice for men. Our club women, mothers of our children, and our authorities, should take steps at once to protect the children from being thus exploited by unscrupulous chance business schemes.

MRS. M. CHAPPELLE.

Enters Protest. MONROVIA, Nov. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a subscriber I wish to protest against the publishing of the details of crimes and criminal cases in your otherwise most excellent paper. I consider this publication of all the minutiae of criminal actions and cases as demoralizing to the citizens at large, and especially pernicious in its influence upon the young.

MRS. J. P. BUCK.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q: When were side saddles first used? A: Side saddles were introduced as early as the twelfth century. They were developed from the pillion or pad on which a lady rode sideways behind her escort and steadied herself by holding onto his belt.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q: What will raccoons eat? A: Raccoons will eat almost any small animal, but are particularly fond of frogs, crabs, and muskrats. They will also eat vegetables, showing a marked preference for ripening corn.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q: How do pine trees become affected with elm rust? A: The Bureau of Plant Industry says that pine rust is a fungus disease and does not spread from pine to pine. It is communicated to them from gooseberries and currants.

Masterpieces of Art in Furniture Design

The above is one of several new bedroom suites in various finishes that are coming on our floors. Any number of pieces may be selected from these suites at the new, lower prices now prevailing. Two of our ten floors are devoted to this class of furniture, offering a choice that we believe to be unequalled anywhere. Inspection and comparison cordially invited.

Special Close-Out of Incomplete Suites

We must have room to show the new bedroom suites that are arriving, and so a number of suites that are not complete must be disposed of at special close-out prices. The pieces in these suites are priced separately, so any number may be selected. As the quantity of each is limited, early choosing will be to your advantage.

Fresh Milk is the Natural Food for the Home

No more worry and disappointment in making icings for cake. That rich, creamy lusciousness that every housewife strives for—that every member of the family yearns for, can be easily and successfully made.

The use of milk is the secret.

RECIPE:

- 8 Cups Scalded Milk
- 3 Eggs
- 7-8 Cup Sugar
- 1-3 Cup Flour
- 1-3 Teaspoon Salt
- 1 Teaspoon Flavoring

Mix dry ingredients, add eggs slightly beaten and pour scalded milk on gradually. Cook 15 minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, afterwards occasionally. Cool and flavor.

People generally are aware that Christian Science has touched the lives of many who have worked in such persons' profoundest need for the better in mind, in morals, in body. Have you ever considered the life since Christian Science began its reformatory mission? Not only has it been a blessing directly, but the influence of its influence has extended to the universal thought, so that those who have not been directly benefited have nevertheless conformed to much of its basic teaching. Surely, service Americanism, the Anama Club, an organization of service men, representing in its membership a score, or more lines of business is under the aegis of the American flag, and is endeavoring to display the flag on American day, and on all holidays of a national character.

During the coming week Anama members will appear before the various civic associations and commercial clubs carrying this message of Americanism and urging that all patriotic citizens display the flag. Among the speakers will be Raymond Smith, President of the Reynolds Club, District Atty. Fleta Phillips P. Dodson, Robert L. Hanley and others.

ness. Coincidentally, basic changes have occurred in human affairs, touching the academy, the pulpit and the medical forum to higher, even more, levels. In the Christian era, theology and medicine are no longer into the warp and woof of life. They are no longer the substitute for motifs. Indeed, involving as they do salvation, both here and hereafter, they are among the most basic factors in human life today. They are the basis of the hope of a transcendent life, of a life beyond the finite; its every sense is, of course, limited. The human mind's consciousness is not limited. The sciences never rise above the limits by which the human thought is bounded. The human mind is not more than itself. That self is material, and hence to the unenlightened mind, the sciences are material. The sciences seem material. Physical science, especially the natural sciences, are operated in human consciousness to befit the God with finite form and nature. The mind, however, is DIVINE EXPRESSION. was laid open to the construction that the State Board admits that the fault does not lie in the wreckage, but in the foundation. When, then, can the commission ever form any many failures? Does it not appear that the commissioner's policy of laying concrete on new grade is responsible for a large percentage of the failures?

The commissioner's contention that the abnormal increase in traffic is responsible for the failures hardly coincides with his statement that hundreds of miles of roads of this construction are as sound as ever. If that is really the case, the failure of early construction would not apply to all of that construction which is laid upon to sustain abnormal traffic.

MEANS MORE MONEY.

"If funds available are not sufficient to build the roads projected and meet the heavy expense of constructing roads that have failed, it is apparent that the State will have to ask the people for more money in the form of bonds or increase in the tax on the license for motor vehicle taxation. The Automobile Club of Southern California is in favor of providing adequate highway funds and believes the people of this State will be willing to provide such funds, but only when there has been a frank and explicit statement of the purpose of the money and the accounting for the work that has been done and adequate assurance that money to be spent in the future will be spent in dollar-for-dollar value in good roads."

The Automobile Club officials expressed anxiety to have the highway program authorized by the Legislature only because the Highway Commission returned the money and for what purpose they did not know. The club is not opposed to fair and just taxation for road maintenance, and has maintained the position that it should be obtained through bond issues for the construction of good roads to stimulate the economy.

The club believes in spending money for the improvement of the roads and for properly maintaining them. It is opposed to wasting money in the fight between the club and the State over the question of whether it is good policy to build highways; the issue, squarely and honestly, whether or not the State Highway Commission shall receive the money by shortighted and inadequate construction policies in the face of the extensive and costly damage to the highways.

"Tight" Wad Makes a Profitable Swap in Pants!

Can You Think of an Idea as Funny or Funnier Than This? If so, Send It In and Win a Cash Prize. Starting every Friday and ending every Thursday, the Times conducts a Wad comic strip contest. The best idea gets $10, the next to best gets $5, and all others get $2.50. Ideas must be original, witty, and funny. Each picture must be described in words on a rough sketch. All strips must deal with some member of the Wad family—Clover Wad, the spendthrift; Mrs. Spenda Wad, club and society woman; Watt A. Wad, sporty, speeding son; Elva Wad, pretty and frivolous daughter; Guss Wad, 13-year-old terror; and Clove Wad, Jr., the baby. Side of paper only. Address all communications to Mr. Wad, care The Times. Anyone may compete and submit as many ideas as desired.
